The KPERS Study Commission is charged by 2011 HB 2194 to accomplish the following three items:

2. "The commission shall particularly study and review the advantages and disadvantages of implementing a defined benefit, defined contribution or hybrid defined benefit/defined contribution retirement benefit plan, or other plan options."
3. "The commission shall submit a report to the legislature and the joint committee on pensions, investment and benefits before January 6, 2012, with any findings and recommendations which the commission deems necessary including the recommendation of any legislation. 2011 HB 2194 also contains a certification trigger relating to the recommendations of the KPERS Study Commission:

The Revisor of Statutes and the Director of Legislative Research shall jointly certify to the Secretary of State that the Legislature has received and taken action during the 2012 session of the Legislature on the recommendations, including any legislation, of the KPERS Study Commission. "Taken action" means at least one house of the Legislature holding a public hearing in one or more committees and voting on final action by any such committee on a bill which contains the exact same provisions as those recommendations of the Study Commission, and the other house of the Legislature voting on final action in Committee of the Whole on a bill which contains the exact same provisions as those recommendations of the Study Commission. Upon receipt of such certification, the Secretary of State shall cause to be published a notice of the certification in the Kansas Register. The statutory changes described in 2011 HB 2194 are effective upon the publication of the notice of certification and July 1, 2012.
