

Clinton W. Anderson, PhD, Associate Executive Director and Director, Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender Concerns Office, Public Interest Directorate, American Psychological Association (APA) will provide a summary of the APA amicus brief to the United States Supreme Court in the Obergefell case. The June 2015 decision in the case prohibited discrimination against same-sex couples in access to civil marriage.

The brief may be accessed on the APA website at:

<http://www.apa.org/about/offices/ogc/amicus/obergefell-supreme-court.aspx>

Additional APA Resources:

A joint publication of the APA Committee on Lesbian, Gay, and Bisexual Concerns; Committee on Children, Youth, and Families; and Committee on Women in Psychology was published in 2005 with the finding that “[n]ot a single study has found children of lesbian or gay parents to be disadvantaged in any significant respect relative to children of heterosexual parents.” Links to the joint publication (Lesbian and Gay Parenting), a 2012 statement on the APA website supporting the earlier findings, and the amicus brief submitted by the APA in Gill v. Personnel Management referenced in the 2012 APA statement are provided below.

<http://www.apa.org/pi/lgbt/resources/parenting-full.pdf>

<http://www.apa.org/news/press/response/gay-parents.aspx>

<http://www.apa.org/about/offices/ogc/amicus/gill.pdf>