

2016 Kansas Statutes

46-241. Disclosure or use of confidential information by state officer or employee. No state officer or employee shall disclose or use confidential information acquired in the course of his or her official duties in order to further his or her own economic interest or those of any other person.

History: L. 1974, ch. 353, § 27; March 28.