Creating A Safety-Net

Post-Release Housing

- Stable Housing Is Important Yet Elusive for Transitioning Foster Youth
- Studies estimate that 25 to 50 percent of young adults exiting care couch surf, double up, move frequently within a short period of time, have trouble paying rent, and face eviction.
- Unstable housing, conversely, can lead to a downward spiral of compromised physical and mental health, which can limit employment and, in turn, further deteriorate housing stability

Our youth deserve a stable home!

Re-Entry

Welcome Back!

Importance:

The desire for a less-restrictive setting may lead Young Adults to leave DFPS care when they are not ready to be fully self-sufficient thus becoming homeless or addicted to drugs or alcohol abuse.

Additional Cost

- It costs Kansas City taxpayers $5,390 each time a homeless person requires emergency services.
- Eliminating just one emergency a day would save the city over $1.9 million annually.
- Emergency room visits by homeless cost of over $3 million annually.
- Only an estimated 20% of Emergency Room visits by homeless are considered a real emergency.
