I haven't actually read through the entire bill which I hate to admit but I'd be lying to pretend I have. I was stressed reading through it. I just want to say, I can somewhat understand the thought process for caps and ridiculous paperwork for anyone that isn't in the medical field whatsoever. But. The entire world is already so incredibly short staffed already, I can't FATHOM what good it could possibly bring to make it worse. Shutting down, capping or making more paperwork for agencies is absolutely not going to suddenly create fuller staffs in nursing homes. Most of use are actually already working in a facility part time, along with agency. Some people would honestly just stay out of Healthcare all together if there were anymore rules than what we already have. Please. We are trying to help everywhere instead of just one place. We are already spread thin, and tired. We adapt well to chaos, but please dont throw more at us. I am so so grateful to work for Trinity & I don't think I would work for another agency.

Thank you so much for your time and God bless
